THE Hongkong Telegraph.

HONGKONG, 12TH JULY, 1881.

In making a reference to the files of our morning contemporary, we accidentally came across the following paragraph in the Daily Press of April 29th. "The coolies to depart per Glamis Castle have, we hear, all been duly passed by the eminent board deputed to conduct the examination. Further delay has, however, been caused in connection with the signing of the necessary papers." It will be remembered that the above named steamer, under charter to Messrs. Gibb, Livingston & Co., left this port on Friday, April 29th, carrying 830 odd Chinese passengers bound for Sydney, and the other Australian ports, having been delayed several days after her advertised time of departure in order that the passengers might be examined by the "eminent board" above referred to, consisting of the Acting Colonial Secretary, the Acting Registrar General, and Dr. Eitel, to ascertain whether the passengers were really free emigrants, as described in the passenger list. The case of the Glamis Castle will serve to illustrate our ideas on Chinese Emigration to Australia, and will clearly explain to our readers not only the duties of our local Government, but also the views of our Australian cousins on a question which principally concerns their interests. On April 22nd, Messrs. Gibb, Livingston & Co. applied to the Government, in the usual form, under Section II of Ordinance 5 of 1876, for a general licence to convey per s.s. Glamis Castle, 839 Free Chinese Emigrants to Singapore and the Australian Colonies. The application was in due course forwarded by the Harbour Master, who is also Emigration Officer, to the Colonial Secretary, and submitted to the Members of the Executive Council who unanimously approved of the application. On being laid before the Governor, His Excellency requested to be furnished with a list of the 839 free emigrants proposed to be taken to Australia by the Glamis Castle, and the list—which sets forth that the emigrants were nearly all tin-miners, gold diggers, and laborers, with a few carpenters and cooks, and one trader and one gardener—was accordingly forthcoming. The next step was a minute by the Governor instructing the Acting Colonial Secretary, the Acting Registrar General, and Dr. Eitel, to examine the list, and question a sufficient number of the proposed emigrants to see if they were really free, and under no contract of service. Accordingly the three members forming what the Daily Press sarcastically terms the "eminent board" assembled at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 26th April, at the Harbour Office, prepared to cross-examine the motley crew of diggers, tin-miners, carpenters, cooks, &c., when an unforeseen difficulty arose. Captain Thomsett, the Emigration Officer, considering that his prerogative was being infringed on, objected to the examination of the emigrants by any person excepting himself, and the upshot of the fracas was that Dr. Eitel left the office in disgust, leaving Dr. Stewart and Mr. Gerrard to settle with Captain Thomsett as best they could. These two gentlemen settled the question, so far as they were concerned, by proceeding with the examination as directed by the Governor, and after devoting two hours to questioning ten men, they reported that, if the emigrants they had examined were not free and under no contract of service, it would be impossible for them to show that they were not. Soon after Dr. Stewart and Mr. Gerrard had left the Harbour Office, Dr. Eitel returned by order of His Excellency, and was permitted to question four emigrants, and reported:—"Taking these four men as a sample of the whole, I am convinced that the vast majority would, on strict examination, be found to be men utterly unable to pay the passage money themselves, but who, whilst being perfectly free and willing emigrants, have had the passage money advanced to them by Chinese firms, and will have to repay the money with interest within 18 months after arrival in Australia. The very appearance of the men, shoeless, stockingless—indicated the class of labouring men who live from hand to mouth, and from the experience I have had of these classes in China, I am induced to believe that the idea of these men having paid their passages with their own money is utterly improbable." We have very carefully gone over the printed notes of the evidence of the witnesses examined, and have no hesitation whatever in confirming Dr. Eitel's report in every particular. Captain Thomsett reported on the 28th April that he had examined the 839 Chinese emigrants, and found that they were free and under no contract of service whatever. One man however, one of the four examined by Dr. Eitel, had admitted that he had a written agreement, and his name was removed from the list. On this report, the Governor, holding Captain Thomsett responsible for the examination of the 835 whom Dr. Eitel had not examined, signed the license, and the steamer accordingly left on the following day.

It was no doubt very annoying for the charterers of the Glamis Castle to have the steamer detained in the harbour for days after she was ready to go to sea, and it was equally certain that if the vessel had been permitted to leave without its so-called free emigrants undergoing some sort of an examination, the government of this colony would have laid itself open to severe censure. That the Emigration Officer's examination was a thorough farce, must be patent to every one who knows anything of the manner in which these sham examinations are conducted, and we must hold the Governor responsible for permitting such a state of affairs to exist. It is absolutely indispensable that the Emigration Officer should be a man thoroughly conversant with the language and general customs of the Chinese, and it is equally necessary that his time should not be taken up with other duties. Capt. Thomsett is not a Chinese scholar, and as Harbour Master he has more work than he can properly attend to—or why should there be a Deputy Harbour Master! The principle of one government official filling two or three different positions, so common in Hongkong, is rotten to the core, and wholly indefensible. The time has surely come when the Augean Stable wants a thorough cleaning out, and we would strongly recommend that a start be made at once in the Emigration Department.

Every mercantile man in Hongkong knows well enough, the system on which these so-called free emigrants are shipped on board steamers bound for the Colonies, and they are equally well acquainted with the share borne in the transactions by the Chinese Agents, or sub-charterers, so we will not waste time and space by detailing matters which are perfectly well understood throughout this colony. Emigration from China to the Colonies should not be encouraged. It is very rarely conducted honestly towards the emigrants themselves, and it has been, is, and will be the cause of serious troubles in nearly every city in Australia. Chinese labor of the description sent down in the Glamis Castle is not required, nor is it desired in the Colonies. Gold diggers, tin miners, and general laborers are not the sort of people likely to add to the permanent stability of the country; and the natural development of the Australian continent will come in its own good time, so far as railways, etc., etc., are concerned, without the aid of Chinese labor. The Colonies are progressing with the times sufficiently fast to meet their own requirements. Although certain powerful companies in Australia would like to see for their own especial benefit a great deal of cheap Chinese labor in the country, the great mass of the people are strongly averse to their towns being inundated with an alien race, whose presence has already made itself felt to the detriment of the native born laboring classes, and recent legislation on the subject has evidenced how the feeling of the people inclines. We read in the latest Sydney papers that when the emigrants by the Glamis Castle arrived, they were actually stoned in the streets. Such barbarous treatment to a race of inoffensive, well-meaning beings is a disgrace to our civilisation, but it proves clearly enough the strong feeling which exists against the Chinese in the capital of New South Wales, and this feeling is a most powerful factor in the question we are now considering. The Imperial Chinese Government apparently take no interest worth naming in the immigration of their subjects, unless their attention happens to be directed to some tremendous grievance, similar to the cruelties practised against the coolies in Cuba, Peru, and elsewhere. The emigrants themselves are doubtless willing enough to try their luck in other lands, but they are of a class who cannot afford to pay for their own passages, hence the contract system, which under some circumstances is a sort of debased slavery. The prosperity of Hongkong, commercial or social, is not increased by encouraging the Chinese to emigrate to the Colonies; although no doubt, associations which exist here as well as in Sydney, for the purpose of arranging the contracts, getting the coolies from the country, and seeing them safely housed, and shipped here, and started to work on the other side, make vast sums out of the traffic. There are many sound reasons why emigration to the Colonies should not be encouraged by the English Government; and we submit that the least the Hongkong executive can do is to insist on the ordinance being carried out to the letter, and that in the case of all free emigrants, a thorough examination be instituted by properly qualified examiners, instead of the unsatisfactory inspection by the Harbour Master, and a Portuguese clerk (whose honorarium from the state hardly places him in the position assigned to Caesar's wife), which has hitherto been considered sufficient.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

H. M. S. Kestrel will go into the Cosmopolitan Dock to-morrow morning.

We are informed by the agent of the Messageries Maritimes Company that their steamer Djemnah bringing the next English Mails, left Saigon for this port at two o'clock this morning.

According to latest intelligence the sentence of death passed upon Midhat Pasha, the great Turkish statesman, for complicity in the murder of Sultan Abdul Aziz in 1876, has been commuted to exile.

It gives us much satisfaction to be able to announce that the health of President Garfield has considerably improved. Notwithstanding the serious character of the wound there now appears to be a great chance that he will eventually pull through.

We see by the Shanghai Mercury that Mr. Freusberg, interpreter to the German Consulate in Shanghai, has been appointed Vice-Consul at Port-au-Prince, Hayti. Mr. Freusberg who was formerly in Canton, will carry with him the good wishes of a large circle of friends in China.

The body of a young Chinese girl was picked up in the harbour at West Point yesterday forenoon. It is supposed she must have met her death through some boat being capsized, and it is feared that there are yet further sampan disasters to be recorded during the continuance of the present boisterous weather.

In a cricket match played at Shanghai on the 2nd inst., between the First Eleven versus The World, the latter scored 74 to the Eleven's 56. Two old Hongkong residents distinguished themselves for the victors, Mr. G. H. Townsend scoring 20, and Mr. R. D. Starkey 19, not out.

The latest news regarding the Bi-Metallic Conference is neither of a decisive or satisfactory character. It is stated that an agreement is possible amongst the countries with a silver currency, if the Bank of England will agree to hold a portion of its reserve in silver. Such a contingency appears a very remote one. The Conference will again meet on the 12th April next; and it is hoped that diplomatic negotiations between now and then, will bring about some reasonable understanding, and settle the details of a Convention, which it is hoped may lead to beneficial results. We would direct attention to an interesting paragraph in another column on this subject, for which we are indebted to our London contemporary The World.

A sampan accident occurred in the harbour on Sunday evening, by which a European and a Chinese lad of fourteen years of age it is feared have lost their lives. It appears that about half-past seven o'clock, three firemen belonging to the German steamer Brutus took a sampan and put off from the Market Wharf to rejoin their ship, and that when near one of the Messageries Maritime Company's buoys a sudden squall upset the boat, and all were thrown into the water. Cries for help were heard by those on board the C. M. S. N. Co's steamer Mei-foo, and they immediately took the necessary steps to render assistance, the result being that two of the three passengers and four men belonging to the sampan were taken on board. Neither the sampan, the third passenger, a man named Behm, nor a boy who was asleep down below have been seen or heard off, and as the night was dark and stormy no hopes are entertained of their recovery. The people who were rescued remained on board the Mei-foo all night, and the first intimation of any mishap was made yesterday forenoon by a woman, related to the sampan people, reporting the absence of her boat.

Old residents in the Far East, and particularly those of the sea-faring class, will regret to hear of the sudden death, of Captain G. W. Bennett, of Messrs. David Sassoon, Sons and Co.'s opium receiving hulk Wellington. Deceased we believe, came to China when a boy. He was Captain of one of the first steamers that ran between Macao and Hongkong, but since about 1856 he has been in Shanghai, in charge of the opium hulk belonging to the firm in whose service he died. He was apparently in good health yesterday morning (4th July), when, as usual, he gave the orders for the day to the members of his crew. After taking a bath about 8 a.m. he complained of pains in the chest and had to take to his bed. He was first attended by the Doctor of the P. & O. steamer Rohilla, and subsequently by Dr. Macleod. He gradually got worse and died at six o'clock in the evening. He leaves a wife and four children and it is believed that he had made arrangements for them to leave England, where they have been for the last ten years, to rejoin him in Shanghai in October next.—N. C. Daily News.

We have received the prospectus of a new work, which the proprietors of the Japan Gazette intend publishing shortly, should they receive a sufficient number of subscribers to justify the undertaking. The book will be entitled "Our Sports in Japan," and will contain records of Racing, Paper Hunts, Theatricals, Foot Ball, Athletics, Swimming, Cricket, Base Ball, Regattas and Rifle Matches, Hints about Trips in the Country, Shooting Excursions, etc., etc. The book will be illustrated with photographs and sketches of those gentlemen who have taken any prominent part in sporting, many of whom have kindly consented to contribute towards the compiling of this work.

The publishers will also secure photographs of the best known racing ponies, boat-houses, grand-stand, &c., &c., and will be glad to receive any contributions appertaining to local sporting matters.

The book will be edited by an old resident, who has for many years figured prominently in our sporting community.

The publishing price will be $5.00, and the work will be put in the press as soon as subscribers for 200 copies are secured.

Lists are posted at the United, German, and Rowing Clubs, at the principal Hotels, and at Messrs. Kelly & Co. Yokohama.

The Editor, we believe, is Mr. F. A. Cope, well known in sporting circles in Japan. We have had the manuscript of a similar work, on a larger and more comprehensive scale, embracing the whole of the Chinese ports, in our pigeon holes for the past two years, having found a difficulty in getting it printed in Hongkong. We wish our contemporary the Japan Gazette every success in this new undertaking.

The British steamer Catterthun arrived from Sunderland this morning with the Siamese bark Pobius in tow, waterlogged. The Catterthun sighted the bark at noon yesterday in 21, 17 N., 112, 30 E., flying signals of distress. She at once took the ship in tow and brought her on to this port. The Pobius left Bangkok on the 21st June with a general cargo and fears for her safety were beginning to make themselves felt. The vessel had sprung a leak on the passage and when picked up by the Catterthun had upwards of five feet of water in her hold.

The Spread of Bi-metallism.

The Monetary Conference at Paris has adjourned for six weeks, after a declaration from Sir Louis Mallet, as the representative of India, which has caused no little consternation among English monometallists. Lord Harrington has divested the explanation of any official character which it might be supposed to possess, so far as England is concerned; but the fact remains that the Indian Government, through Sir Louis Mallet, have declared themselves favourable to concluding a bargain for the purpose of securing the rehabilitation of silver. They will undertake that there shall be no alteration of the coinage of India for ten years, if the other countries interested in silver maintain the free mintage of silver to gold at the ratio of 15½. It is not easy to see how, under this, we can escape the charge of inconsistency. The Government loudly, indeed, uphold the existing system of gold monometallism in England, and of silver monometallism in India. But by binding themselves to maintain the free mintage of silver in India at a fixed ratio, they virtually adopt the fundamental postulate of bi-metallism. It is hard, however, to condemn them. Not only do we see foreign States champions of bi-metallism, but the converts to that system in our own country are rapidly increasing, and numbers such practical authorities in matters financial as Messrs. Gibbs and Grenfell, and Sir Louis Mallet. If other countries are prepared to enter into a bi-metallic union, England ought to do as far as she can to help the experiment. Anything less than what Sir Louis Mallet proposes would be of no use. It is doubtful if even this will be accepted by foreign countries as enough. In the mean time it is well that there should be an opportunity for further deliberation; and the adjournment for six weeks gives this.—The World.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.]

To the Editor of

"THE HONGKONG TELEGRAPH."

Sir,—Will you allow me through your columns to call the attention of the Surveyor-General's Department to what would appear to be an abuse. My coolie informs me that he is unable to obtain water in the morning from the hydrant in Staunton Street, nearly opposite the Union Chapel, because the Chinaman in charge of it wants the coolies who resort thither to club together and pay him $3 a month. The consequence is that my coolie, as well as the others, who are mostly indigent people living in the neighbourhood, have to travel long distances to procure water. I am informed that for nearly a month the hydrant has not been opened at all in the morning, and only for a very limited period in the evening, because the coolies decline to submit to the squeeze. I am sure it is only necessary to mention the matter to have a remedy applied.

Yours truly,

A. RATEPAYER.

LATEST COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Tuesday, July 12th, 1881.

One o'clock P.M.

Transactions in shares are still of a very meagre description. We have however to record a few transfers of Banks which were booked yesterday afternoon and this morning at 105 cash. Buyers had been on the look out for some days, to get any odd lots which might be on the market at 104, but as holders would not deal at that figure, the extra point was at length forthcoming. Altogether we traced some 70 shares which changed hands. The Dock Company's shares are remarkably firm at 56 per cent premium, and although a few sales were effected yesterday, and one or two small lots were on offer, at that price, buyers would be glad to do business on the same terms to-day. Hotels remain steady at par, and a few shares have changed hands; but there are plenty buyers who would purchase this morning if they could be obtained for $100 each. Sugars we still quote at $175 per share, but this is merely nominal, as no offer has been made for the stock for days, and it is difficult to say what quotation would lead to genuine business.

Hair-Cutting.....50 cents.—

Shampooing.....25 "

Shaving.....25 "

Trimming Beards.....25 "

Monthly Customers taken at reduced rates.

RAZORS MOST CAREFULLY RE-SET.

Mr. MOORE begs to recommend his GOGO SHAMPOO WASH to the public as unrivalled by any preparation ever produced for promoting the growth of the hair. The basis of this compound is made of soap root; the natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; they are never found bald, and it is quite common to see the females with hair from 5 to 6 feet long. By constantly using this Shampoo WASH as directed, you will never be bald. The proprietor offers the Wash to the public entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will without fail arrest decaying hair. It completely eradicates scurf, dandruff, and cures all diseases of the scalp. It does not contain any poisonous drugs. By its cooling properties it allays the itching and fever of the scalp, which is the great cause of people losing their hair.

Mr. MOORE has succeeded in being able to put this wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee it to keep any length of time in any climate.
